Fire Prevention Week October 5th to 11th

Coleman Trade Board Hold Meeting

Coleman Board of Trade held a meeting last week which was well attended and under the chairmanship of John Salus.

William Holyk reported that a flag had been obtained and that the Atlas Lumber Company were going to donate a flag pole to the Board to erect the flag in the town park.

Signs regarding the camp shelters were also discussed and will be brought up at the next meeting.

Mr. Holyk also reported on the band concert and free movies that were held at the park early in the summer. He stated that the affair was exceptionally well attended, and received by the public who asked that similar affairs be held. A concession booth at the concert proved profitable.

Rev. D. Fleming gave a report on the activities of the Coleman ball club that had travelled to Edmonton recently, and stated that the boys had made an excellent showing considering the team they played against which were almost semi-professional.

He reported that the Lions Club, the Board of Trade and the Coleman Sports Association had assisted the club financially and that since some of the money had not been spent would be returned. He also mentioned that the Coleman Collieries had supplied a car and driver to aid the boys in their trip to Edmonton.

Mayor Abousaaby gave a report on the proposed television community antenna service for the Pass and said that crews of Alberta government telephone men would be in the Pass in the early part of October to commence work on the project. He also gave a report on a satellite station for the Pass and said that while in Ottawa recently he had enquired about this matter. He said that such a system would cost between $75,000 and $100,000 and would only give the Pass a partial service from CBC. He said the area was under consideration but plans were five years away.

Following the board meeting a Rodeo committee meeting was held when a preliminary financial statement was presented and showed that a profit had been realized at the last rodeo. As a result of this it was decided to hold a rodeo again next year with the date to be announced later. A complete financial statement will be published.

Votes of thanks were extended to Atlas Lumber Company and Coleman Collieries for the materials they supplied for putting the grounds into shape and for re-

Coleman Lions Hold Season's First Meet

Coleman Lions Club held a ladies night in the Grand Union Hotel last week when the Lions treated their wives to a banquet supper.

Guest speaker at the meeting was District Governor Tom Carter of Plains, Mont., who gave an inspiring talk on Lionism and the work being done by Lions organizations all over the world.

While making his speech, Lion Carter stressed the importance of wives allowing their husbands to get out to meetings more often in order that they carry on the good work they were doing.

Following the address Lion Horace Allen presented a film of the annual hose coupling competitions held in Coleman on July 1st which were well enjoyed by the members.

New Minister Arrives In Coleman

Rev. John Fairbairn arrived in the Pass last week to take over the three Anglican parishes St. Alban's, Coleman; St. Luke's, in Blairmore, and St. Francis in Blairmore. Rev. Fairbairn replaces Rev. F. Dykes who left here early in September for England where he will take post-graduate studies.

Rev. Fairbairn was in charge of the Matheson and Mooseonee parishes in Ontario prior to coming to the Pass. On his arrival here he visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Gossick of Blairmore.

Mrs. Fairbairn is at present teaching school in Inouqua Falls, and it is expected she will come to the Pass to join her husband in the spring.

Meanwhile the Anglican rectory at Coleman is to be occupied by Rev. Fairbairn is being re-decorated by Mr. O. K. Siret and Mr. Harry Harrison of Blairmore.

Sidewalks Being Extended

Town crews in Coleman, under the supervision of town foreman John Kinner, are extending the sidewalks eastward that were built by the Department of Highways on both sides of the cut on number three highway in East Coleman.

The walks will be extended well past the residences along both sides of the highway to give pedestrians a safe passage along the main highway.

pairing stalls and fences at the rodeo grounds.

A chairman for next year's Coleman Rodeo will be appointed at a later date.

"Don't Give Fire a Place To Start" Slogan For Greatest Rally On Fire Prevention Here

DON'T GIVE FIRE A PLACE TO START.
TO START is the 1958 slogan for Fire Prevention Week, October 5 to 11, it was announced today by the fire chief.

"We can succeed," declared the chief, "if we have the help of every man, woman and child in spreading the idea that fire prevention is a personal matter. It needs only the acceptance by each individual of responsibility in the elimination of hazards common to fire."

The chief told of the remarkable co-operation given by citizens when uniformed members of his department made courtesy calls at their homes, simply to suggest ways and means whereby the family might without inconvenience, expense or other involvement, rid themselves of these hazards. Instances were such things as trash and rubbish, improper electrical fusing and faulty heating equipment.

"There's nothing fancy in successful fire prevention. Like many else in life it's mainly a lot of little things," the chief said.

However, there is nothing small about the Fire Department's plans to rivet community attention to Fire Prevention Week.

Coleman Brigade To Hold Fire Prevention Week

Henry Zak, fire-chief of the Coleman Volunteer Fire Brigade, announced this week that the brigade would again hold the annual Fire Prevention Week in Coleman during the week of October 5th to October 12th.

The firemen have again decided to hold contests for the Coleman school pupils and will sponsor approximately $100 in prizes for the winning students.

Arrangements are being made for a poster contest for school pupils from grades one to three inclusive and an essay contest for pupils from grade four to grade-eight inclusive.

During the week the firemen will secure films from Lettbridge on Fire Prevention and will show the films at the West Coleman school during the morning and at the main school during the afternoon. The firemen are already busy inspecting private homes and business establishments in Coleman with a view to eliminating any fire hazards that they may find in order to reduce fires during the winter months. While on their inspection tours the firemen also suggest to home owners any improvements that might eliminate a fire hazard. Fire Chief Zak has also announced that the Annual Fireman's Ball will be held in the Elks hall on October 24th and that an advance sale of tickets is already underway. The dance tickets that are being sold are also for a draw for a three-piece set of luggage. All are invited to attend the dance and lend support to the Volunteer Fire Brigade.

Community Spirit Still Thrives

Coleman may appear to some as dead on the surface, but to anyone present at the Arena last Saturday morning would easily see that there is a blood stream surging with energy in hidden veins that will be hard to kill.

If this kind of spirit could show a little more of its power in the lifeblood of the community, we would be able to boast the best town in the country.

Under tremendous difficulties, first, because of the size of the job attempted, second, the lack of experience in such a project, a sheet of cement 15,000 square feet and about six inches thick was laid by a crew of volunteers comprising as many as thirty men and boys at a time, in eight-hour shifts, starting early Saturday morning and continuing for thirty-two hours, steadily mixing cement and wheeling it to where it was needed. The result is a beautiful cement floor above and around the pipes which this winter will freeze and hold a sheet of ice for every body, particularly the young people, to skate on.

Space here will not allow to mention all of the names, but the thanks of the community goes to all who contributed in time and money, particularly the fifty or sixty men, school boys, truckers who hauled the gravel, and the Ladies' Auxiliary for sandwiches.

While all are happy that the hardest and biggest job is over, there is still much to do. There are smaller projects that need doing and anyone wishing to help a little further, please get in touch with George Jenkins.

Trout Supper Is Enjoyed

At the close of the regular meeting of Minerva Chapter O.E.S. on Thursday, September 18th, a delicious trout supper was donated, prepared and served by the gentlemen members of the order, Bros. J. Park and G. Jenkins, assisted by C. Coover and C. Freeman.

All proved themselves real fishermen as well as first class chefs. Visiting Sisters and Brothers from Blairmore and Natal were in attendance.

A vote of thanks was given by Bro. Harper of Blairmore.

Winter Work Anticipated at Crows Nest Lakes

Co-operation and effort on the part of William Kovach, M.L.A., and N. H. Bradley, district engineer, it is anticipated that some work will be done on the number three highway around Crows Nest Lake this fall and winter.

Reports indicate that the work would involve straightening out the highway and would probably employ local labor and equipment to aid the unemployment question.

This information has been brought to the attention of The Journal by fairly reliable sources. More details will be published in the next issue.

H. E. Henderson, supervising engineer for the Department of Highways, visited the Crows Nest Pass last Friday looking over possible prospects of work that might create employment in the Pass.

Mildred Zak Heads H & S Association

The organizational meeting of the Coleman Home and School Association was held in the main school auditorium this week which was exceptionally well attended by some 90 parents and teachers of Coleman.

A slate of officers was elected to head the group and installed by principal of the school Horace Allen.

The officers comprise: President, Mrs. Mildred Zak; Vice-president, Mrs. Irene Coover; Secretary, Mrs. Elizabeth Upton; Treasurer, Mrs. Lorraine Ailelo. Besides these officers the executive committee will also comprise Mrs. Erna Malanichuk and Horace Allen.

On the program committee are Mrs. Caroline Holyk, Mrs. Doreen Caldwell and Mrs. Anna Jones, and the refreshment committee will consist of Ricca Delucca, Margaret Krywolt, Kay Holyk, Emily Mleura and Betty Sumanuk.

President of the Blairmore Home and School Association Eric Price was guest speaker at the organizational meeting and gave a very enlightening talk on functions and work done by Home and School Associations.

Principal of the Coleman schools Horace Allen also gave a talk on the benefits of a Home and School pointing out that the group were similar to a triangle with the teachers and pupils forming two sides of the triangle which was completed by the parents.

New president of the Coleman group, Mrs. Mildred Zak, expressed her thanks to the guest speakers for their informative addresses.

The group decided to hold their meetings on the third Monday in each month in the Coleman main school which was made available to the Home and School by the Coleman School Board.

General business of setting dues and other items will be finalized at the next meeting.

All Coleman parents and interested persons are welcome to attend and join the group.

Mayor Abousaaby Retained by Acclamation

Popularity of Mayor Frank Abousaaby was again shown by Coleman residents last week when Mr. Abousaaby was returned to office by acclamation.

An election will be held in October to contest two seats on council as three names have been entered. Nominees are Walter Dibbice and Joseph Wavrean, re-nominated, and Arnaldo Deluca. For school board two terms, Steve Penney and Clarence Clarke, re-nominated; Anthony Ceceloni, Joseph Brown, Ed Leslie Owen, John Krywy and Henry Zak, Jr., nominated. 6

Visit Eastern Canada Former Colemanites

Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Caroe have recently returned from a 10-week holiday spent in New York, Chicago, Niagara and Toronto.

In Chicago they were the guests of Mr. Caroe's nephew and wife, in Toronto they visited at the home of their son Lorne and wife, who took them on many interesting drives to sight-seeing spots.

A pleasant evening was spent at the home of Mr. and Mrs. O. Bombela, former Coleman residents, who sent best wishes to old friends in the old home town.

They were also the guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. Bart and Mr. and Mrs. Castelan and Mr. and Mrs. G. Sims.

Here Mr. Caroe was greatly impressed with their budgie bird which is a very well trained pet and a fluent talker, and travels with the Sims on week-end trips and holidays, having made one trip as far west as Calgary. They have their car air-conditioned to accommodate safety and comfort of the bird.

They were also the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Frencchie Marconi and were given the usual cordial welcome by them, who sent best wishes to old friends in the Crows Nest Pass.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Petrunik, residing at St. David, also entertained them. Several group pictures were taken which will always hold lasting memories, and as Mrs. Caroe stated all are very comfortable and happy in their lovely eastern homes, but have not forgotten the old friends in Coleman and look forward to the coming of The Journal, and sent best wishes for all towns in the Crows Nest Pass to survive or better still prosper and boom.

Coleman Scouts to Hold Bottle Drive

Coleman Boy Scouts will be out in full force next Saturday collecting bottles to boost their funds.

All residents are asked to give the boys their full support and have bottles ready when the canvassers call at their homes.

Over 12,000 survival conscious Canadians have attended courses at the Canadian Civil Defence College since its establishment in 1954.

New Coleman Post Office Is Opened

Pictured in the accompanying photo is the new Coleman Post Office building that was officially put into use on Monday, September 29th. No official opening was held for the occasion although numerous local residents visited the building on Monday.

The building, of brick construction, is approximately 40x40 feet, one storey and was erected at a cost of some $30,000. The building is fully modern and is equipped with fluorescent lighting.

The box lobby and all rooms in the building have been painted in a light pastel shade making the interior very striking.

The grounds around the post office have been sloped down and planted with lawns which are now beginning to sprout. The new post office adds greatly to the appearance of Coleman.

Frank H. Graham, postmaster, who has been in Coleman since 1913, was recently presented with a 25 year Canadian Postal Service button which is given out by the Deputy Postmaster General.

The button was given to Mr. Graham by M. Lysack, regional director and district director Ivor Beans, who visited Coleman about two weeks ago.

Alaska Apples Thrive in Coleman

large in size, for this area, were fully developed and well ripened when the photo was taken.

Mrs. DeCocco planted the tree 11 years ago and states that the tree has produced fine fruit for the last five seasons. Some 70 apples were harvested from the tree this year and are a juicy sweet table variety.

Of Many Things (By Ambrose Hills)

I'm In Trouble Again

I suppose I can't expect to write a column and not stir up a fight; but this time I have two outfits sore at me.

It seems I've offended just about everybody in the oil industry, even though I was only after those who are asking for a government subsidy to build a crude oil pipeline to Montreal. I'm also being scolded by the secretary of the Ontario Poultry Producers' Association for my comments about compulsory egg marketing — though I note she avoided using the word "compulsory" as did others who took issue with me on that score.

I admit that in criticizing compulsory marketing I might have seemed unsympathetic to egg producers. I am not.

If I have sounded unsympathetic I'm sorry indeed.

I once had a try at producing eggs on a model chicken farm on the outskirts of Edmonton. It was not the brightest spot in my career, and I know it is not an easy way to make a living.

As far as the oil industry is concerned, I can understand that some may have taken my condemnation of a certain section of the industry as a smear on the whole works. One critic points out that those who want the government to back a crude oil pipeline represent only a small percentage of the oil production in Alberta, and an exceedingly small percentage of the oil capacity of the province. He says many of the bigger oil companies are against the plan in principle and have dealt themselves out of the proposition even though it would have meant millions in profit to them. I gladly acknowledge this, and I have a hearty respect for the kind of good sense these companies have apparently displayed.

Now I don't know whether these contrite paragraphs will make egg producers or oil men feel better about me; but I did want my readers to know that I'm not a mean old grouch. I want to be fair.

But I'm against compulsory marketing and feel I have to say so, and I'm against handling the oil industry, or any part of it large or small, the Montreal market on a platter while we pay to pipe their oil down there.

Next week my column will probably be headed — Sweetness and Light. I'm getting tired of fights.

Beleaguered Poultry Man

Stan Yankus is a 39-year-old poultry farmer in Michigan and the FBI agents are after him. His crime — he refused to let the government of the United States tell him how much wheat he can plant on his chicken farm, even though he sells no wheat but uses it for feed.

He's in deep trouble.

He has been fined $3848 already. FBI agents want to egg buyers and made them tell how much income Mr. Yankus has — they want to the bank and insisted on seeing Mr. Yankus' bank account, then seized $1701 of it — Mr. Yankus' portion of a joint account. He has had to sell 1100 of his flock of 6,000 chickens to get working capital, reducing his egg income by about 20 per cent.

He is in this trouble because wheat farmers voted for penalties back in 1954. Mr. Yankus didn't vote for them, wanted no part of them; he grows wheat for his own use, to feed his chickens. He feels that efforts to support the market are no business of his. He is sore, too, because the agents could go and find out about his bank account, and force egg buyer Sam Daken to open his books to them so that they'd know Mr. Yankus' income almost to the penny.

"People tell me on the street 'they can't do that to you,' even though they've already done it," he said. A neighbor said, "Stanley has a right to live. Hes not waxing rich. His wife and kids have to work gathering, sorting and candling eggs. Why does the government do this to him?"

The government does this to him because out of an eligible 22,000 wheat farmers, only 4,000 voted, and the majority of them were in favor of such controls. At the time of the voting, a lot of men like Stanley thought they wouldn't be affected, and a good many didn't bother to vote.

Stanley Yankus says he is going to keep fighting for the right to plant as much wheat as he wants to plant on his own farm. However, it is unlikely that he will be able to fight for long.

He doesn't have money or power — but the government has both. He doesn't seem to have any help from the big farm organizations, either. A school teacher farmer sent him $50 to help — aside from that he has received about $30 from his neighbors who know him and agree with him.

Most men would simply give in and pay up and obey regulations. Stanley Yankus, however, says he is going to resist until he starves because "I don't want my kids to grow up in a world where they are going to be shipped around like pigs."

Blood Usage On Increase

During recent weeks hospitals in southern Alberta have been using blood at the rate of 100 bottles per day, according to word from mobile units of the Red Cross Blood Transfusion Service operating in this area.

Increased use of whole blood in medical therapy and surgery makes the need for additional donors imperative. A weekly supply of 600 bottles is required if the steadily increasing needs of 50 hospitals in the southern part of the province are to be met.

Coleman High School Students Receive Awards

A proud occasion was observed in the Coleman school auditorium Friday afternoon when host of Coleman students were presented with awards for outstanding achievements during the past term.

Besides the parents of the winning students, all the members of the high school student body, the teaching staff, there were present representatives of the various organizations that sponsored the greatly appreciated awards.

Principal of the school, Horace Allen as master of ceremonies, opened the affair by commencing that the grade nine class during the 1957-58 season had enjoyed a banner year. He stated that 13 of the class had attained honor standings which meant an average of 80 per cent or better in the departmental examinations.

He pointed out that this achievement was not a stroke of luck, but was the fruits of hard work, proper home environment and interest of the school board and the teaching staff.

Mr. Allen then called on the following honor students and presented each with an engraved pen as a reward for their efforts from the school board—Joseph Brown, Elenore Grace D'Amica, Linda DeCocco, Bernice Fontana, Brian Johnson, Judith Holyk, Agnes Hereford, Michele Kilgannon, Arlene Marconi, Wayne Krywolt, Jack Mowell, Paulette Ryplen, Delores Ryman and Ken Woods.

Mr. Allen also made mention of the fact that a local jeweller, Mr. J. Chalmer had engraved the pens for the students without charge.

Mr. Allen then introduced Delbert Ennis, past Exalted Ruler of the Coleman Elks, who sponsor scholarships of the boy and the girl attaining the highest standing in grade nine. In making the presentations Mr. Ennis gave words of encouragement to the students, pointing out that education is something that can be carried about easily and is never a burden.

Both students ably responded, expressing their thanks to the Elks, the teaching staff and board, their parents and to the students for their competition. Winners were Miss Paulette Ryplen and Ken Woods.

The next award presented by Steve Mraz of the Coleman school board, sponsors of the awards for grade ten, was then made after Mr. Allen commended the school board for their great interest in the schools.

Mr. Mraz announced that this year the marks were so close that the board decided to award four scholarships rather than two.

The $100 was split into two firsts valued at $25 and two seconds worth $15. Winners were Kay Ferschweiler with 90.6 per cent, and Georgeann Pattinson with 80.2 per cent; Valerie Kwasnie with 90.4 per cent and Don DeCocco with 79.6 per cent. After receiving the awards all students ably expressed their thanks to all for making the awards possible and to those that encouraged and taught them.

The next award sponsored by the Coleman Lions Club was presented to the two grade eleven student attaining the highest marks by Art Graham, representing President Jim Montabetti, who was unable to be present.

Winners were Sharon Kilgannon and Beverly Bond, who expressed their appreciation of the very fine awards sponsored by the Lions.

The two girls also expressed thanks to their teachers, parents and students.

The next award was one sponsored by the Crows Nest Pass Chapter of the Alberta Association of Registered Nurses, who sponsor an award for the girl in the Crows Nest Pass attaining highest marks in grade twelve, who was entering nursing training.

Winner of the scholarship was Miss Terry Mraz, who is training in the General Hospital in Calgary and was unable to be present. Representing Miss Mraz was her father, Steve Mraz, who accepted the award on Terry's behalf and ably expressed his and Terry's thanks to the Association for the fine scholarship.

The presentation was made by Margaret Stewart, R.N. of Coleman. Miss Anne Kerr of Frank, was then called upon by Mr. Allen, who commended Anne on her accomplishments during her attendance at Coleman. He indicated that Anne had been the president of the Students' Union last term and had also taken a very active part in school affairs. Little April Ingram was called upon and presented Miss Kerr with a lovely bouquet of flowers from the Pass Hotelmen, after which Mrs. H. Tucker, representing the Alberta Hotelmen's Association, presented Miss Kerr with a voucher valued at $500.

Mrs. Ethel Kosteink, Honored Royal Lady of the Coleman OORP, was also called upon and congratulating Miss Kerr, presented her with the scholarship sponsored by the lodge for the grade 12 room. Miss Kerr expressing her sincere thanks to April, to the Hotelmen's Association and to the OORP, stated that she was proud to belong to a school that had such an outstanding record.

Mr. Allen then called upon William Liddell, who it was announced had won the IOOE scholarship. The award which marked the first time it had been won in Coleman, was presented to William by Mrs. S. Burnett of Blairmore of the provincial executive of the IOOE.

For the fine award William expressed his thanks to the lodge, the school teachers and to all who helped him during his school years.

At the conclusion of the ceremonies the parents enjoyed a tea and refreshments served by Mrs. Gouding, Mrs. F. DeCocco and Mrs. T. Collister.

Barbara A. Beddome Is Bride of Dr. Peter Allen

A wedding of social interest was solemnized in St. George's Anglican Church, Windsor Park, on Saturday, when Miss Barbara Ann Beddome became the bride of Dr. Peter Baker Roderick Allen.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick T. Beddome of Edmonton. She is an arts graduate of the University of Alberta and a member of Kappa Alpha Theta women's fraternity.

Dr. Allen, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Allen of Coleman, is a graduate in medicine of the University of Alberta.

Autumn Tones

Peach and white gladioli on the church altar echoed the tones chosen for their gowns by members of the bridal party, accenting the all-white ensemble of the bride and the tangerine gowns worn by the three attendants.

Guest pews of the church were marked for the occasion with loops of white ribbons and peach gladioli blossoms.

The double ring marriage ceremony was performed at high noon by Rev. J. A. Langstone.

Miss Beddome, given in marriage by her father, was beautiful in a gown of white peau de taffeta, styled on princess lines. The skirt, bouffant over crinoline, was designed with banding of Alencon lace at the neckline.

Buttoned from the waist to the neckline at the back the molded bodice was cut with portrait neckline trimmed with Alencon lace. Long sleeves tapered to lily-polts at the bride's wrists.

A Mary Queen of Scots cap encrusted with pearls, held in place by chapel veil. She carried a white prayer book surmounted with garlands of tallman roses, stephanotis and ivy.

Miss Lorie Hodgson was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Ruth Buchanan and Miss Penny Keatley, cousin of the bride.

The trio of attendants wore princess gowns of tangerine crystal charm, the full skirts tucked in at the hemline in the new tulip design. Each gown was designed with matching tailored bow at the side hemline. V-backed rounded neckline and cap sleeves. The attendants wore slippers to match their gowns and carried bouquets of tallman roses and ivy.

Dr. Glen Edwards was best man. Ushers were Mr. David Adams of San Francisco, cousin of the groom and Mr. Douglas MacFarlane of Cowley. Mrs. Harold Bell played organ music for the wedding.

O.O.R.P. to Support Local Campaign For C.N.I.B.

"I'd rather be dead."

"Is this how you would feel if you lost your sight?" asked Mr. R. V. Hewlett, executive officer of the CNIB for Southern Alberta. "Today, a statement of this nature is seldom heard," he went on. "The Canadian National Institute for the Blind eases the burden of blindness with its services, available without charge, to all without vision. The first contact is made by a sightless field secretary who acquaints the newly blinded with CNIB services. A home teacher, also sightless, then steps in, teaching Braille, leatherwork, basketry and typing."

Mr. Hewlett told the story of Joe M., a young chap who lost his sight in an industrial accident.

"Joe was a very bitter young man until the field secretary approached and showed Joe that with the 'touch system' he could light a cigarette, tell the time and dial the telephone. Under the guidance of a CNIB home teacher, Joe learned to read Braille and to type, and he gradually had his lost confidence restored."

"Joe began doing sub-contract work in an occupational workshop and learned that he could work well without sight. The Placement Officer joined forces with Joe's home teacher, assessed his adjustment to blindness and his skill with tools, and located him a job in an industrial plant operating a drill press."

"Joe doesn't wish he were dead, he's got a lot to live for now," reported Mr. Hewlett, "through the CNIB service his handicap was conquered."

"When you give a donation to CNIB you help the Joes in your district to regain their confidence."

The annual fund-raising campaign of The Canadian National Institute For The Blind will be held in all non-community chest districts commencing October 1st. Sponsors this year in Coleman is the Order of the Royal Purple and convensors: Mrs. Nora Goulding and Mrs. Wm. Ford.

YOU CAN AFFORD TO FORGET —IMPERIAL CAN'T

... because four generations of Canadians have come to depend on Imperial products on the road, on the farm, in the home

Imperial started supplying Canadians with oil products in the very early days of the industry in Canada... in fact, 1880 was the year it made its start in this business.

In most areas of Canada, it was an Imperial refinery which first began making oil products locally.

Imperial pioneered, too, in supplying Canadians with products when and where they were needed. As far back as 1907, Imperial opened the first service station in Canada... and perhaps in the world.)

Today, as over the past 78 years, Imperial recognizes its responsibility to bring Canadians the most modern of oil products at the lowest possible price.

Ten Commandments of Gun Safety

- 1—Treat every gun with the respect due a loaded gun. This is the first rule of gun safety.
  - 2—Guns carried into camp or home, or when otherwise not in use, must always be unloaded, and taken down or have actions open; guns always should be carried in cases to the shooting area.
  - 3—Always be sure barrel and action are clear of obstructions, and that you have only ammunition of the proper size for the gun you are carrying. Remove oil and grease from chamber before firing.
  - 4—Always carry your gun so that you can control the direction of the muzzle, even if you stumble; keep the safety on until you are ready to shoot.
  - 5—Be sure of your target before you pull the trigger; know the identifying features of the game you intend to hunt.
  - 6—Never point a gun at anything you do not want to shoot; avoid all horseplay while handling a gun.
  - 7—Unattended guns should be unloaded; guns and ammunition should be stored separately beyond reach of children and careless adults.
  - 8—Never climb a tree or fence or jump a ditch with a loaded gun; never pull a gun toward you by the muzzle.
  - 9—Never shoot a bullet at a flat, hard surface or the surface of water; in target practice, be sure your backdrop is adequate.
  - 10—Avoid alcoholic drinks before or during shooting.
- In addition to the above have the best gun and ammunition you can afford. Keep your gun in perfect condition at all times by cleaning, oiling and storing it with care . . . Baby it.
- Learn how to handle your gun. Have a good teacher if you want to learn by instruction. The day you go hunting dress warmly but comfortably. Carelessness may lead to the loss of your own or someone else's life.

DUCK STALGIA

(Author Unknown)

The Hunters of ducks are a crazy breed . . .
A hole in the mud is all they need . . .
A place to hide from a flying duck,
In eighty acres of smelly muck

The roads are bumpy—in rain, they walk.
But the dumb duck-hunter will never squawk
Though he slips in mud, and wets his butt,
He won't complain, 'cause he's a nut.

If it were not so, he'd stay with his wife
And give his children a chance of life.
Instead of cavoring around, by heck . . .
And becoming a useless swivel-neck.

The hike from the car to the boat-up blind
Would make an elephant sore behind.
They wade in slime that would bog a flea,
Like a bunch of bums with housemaid's knee.

They stagger and stumble and sweat, and swear,
When the flashlight shows they're halfway there.
They gasp for breath and their muscles crack
They hope they won't have a heart attack.

Then the mud-hens cackle, the black ducks flare,
And the hunters prance like Fred Astaire.

They fill decoys from sodden sacks,
And ninety per cent land on their backs.
Then they stumble back and fall in the hole
With a crick in the back, but joy in the soul.

Then they wait for dawn, all cramped and grim,
Hoping to hell that the ducks come in.
Their eyes burn out in the mid-day glare,
And duck lice delve in their thinning hair.

They hunt for cripples with galloping tread
And get back to the blind so d . . . near dead
That their duck-calls sound like a weak Bronx Cheer
Dispersing ducks in deadly fear.

I say it's wicked for a man with brains
To risk his life in the fog and rains . . .
To wreck his muscles and damn his soul
Just to squat in the mud of a slimy hole.

Would I ruin my health and risk my life
And get in bad with the little wife,
Just to sit in a blind and suffer pain
In snow and wind and sleeting rain?

Would I spend my money and waste my time,
And listen to lies in the winter time?
Would I do these things no sane man should?
BROTHER, YOU'RE GOSH DARN RIGHT I WOULD!

Three Day Conference By Jehovah Witnesses At Fort Macleod

More than 500 people crowded the modern high school auditorium at Fort Macleod last Sunday to hear the Watch Tower Society's principal speaker, Mr. G. H. Saltmarsh in his timely address "Facing the Future Without Fear".

The speaker said that the greatest thing people fear today is fear itself. Alliances and counter-alliances are the order of the day. All are formed out of fear of aggressors and the aggressors in turn retaliate with counter-alliances, which are developed out of resultant fear.

The speaker then went on to encourage all present to free themselves of the slavish fear of men and instead fear God. He cited Proverbs 29:25, 26 "Trembling at men is what lays a snare, but he that is trusting in Jehovah will be protected. Many are those seeking the face of a ruler, but the judgment of a man is from Jehovah."

Mr. Saltmarsh concluded the three-day assembly by encouraging all present to make a careful study of God's Word the Bible, and fix their hope on the New World of righteousness promised therein.

Highlighting Saturday afternoon was the baptismal service, when four new candidates symbolized their dedication as ministers, by total water immersion. During the last year over 70,000 new witnesses have become active ministers to 107 different nations, 7136 being immersed at the New York

Divine Will Assembly July 30th, 1958.

Mr. A. George, Circuit Superintendent, in his closing talk explored the trend of moral decency today. He enjoined on all witnesses present the need of living in close accord with the principles of the Scriptures and only in this way would they ward off infiltration of waywardness, adult and juvenile delinquency, which stalks every nation on earth today.

Press Statement By The Minister Of Finance

(September 17th, 1958)

I wish to record my deep satisfaction and that of the government in the results achieved in the Canada Conversion Loan in the nine-week campaign ending September 15th.

Progress reports received to date from all parts of Canada place the total of Victory Bonds converted at $5.6 billion. When reporting is complete the total may be slightly higher. Almost 88 per cent of the $6.4 billion of Victory Loans outstanding has been exchanged for the new Conversion Loan maturities.

The information available indicates that more than $2 billion was converted into the new 25 year 4 1/2 per cent bonds, $1 1/2 billion into 14 year 4 1/2 per cent bonds, $1 1/2 billion into the 7 year 2 1/2 per cent bonds and $1 billion into the 3 1/2 year 3 per cent bonds.

When the Loan was announced on July 14th it was accepted with remarkable enthusiasm throughout Canada. It was immediately evident that Canadians would be united in this historic undertaking. Yet there must have been many who were concerned about its ultimate success, having in mind its unprecedented size. It is now clear that all obstacles in the way of resounding success have been surmounted.

A vast number of Victory Bond holders gave thoughtful consideration to the offer, and acted upon it. To them I extend my warmest thanks for their support. I am convinced that in addition to the personal benefits to be derived, a powerful factor in their whole-hearted response was a widespread awareness of its importance to the future of our country. In this single operation we have very nearly doubled the average term of our outstanding marketable debt—from 5 1/2 years to almost 10 years.

By lifting the weight of approaching maturities which were over-hanging the capital market, the Conversion Loan has opened the way for more orderly financing by all sectors of the economy. The heartening experience of recent weeks supports in a practical way the resolve of the government to pursue policies consistent with stable prosperity and a sound currency.

I wish to express appreciation for the earnest and unrelenting effort of thousands of individual Canadians who have made possible the immensely successful conclusion to the Conversion Loan. I know that the personnel of investment firms, banks, trust and loan companies and other members of the financial community have worked long hours unstintingly throughout the past two months; I am also conscious of the fact that without extraordinary service rendered by personnel in the communications and transportation systems, in printing and engraving establishments and in all the other specialized services required, the achievement would not have been possible. I wish to mention especially the support extended by the daily and weekly newspapers, by the periodicals and by radio and television stations.

The response of these people together with the reception accorded to the Canada Conversion Loan by holders of Victory Bonds in all parts of the country is indicative of the solid foundations underlying Canada's glowing future.

1959 Govt. Plan Provides Homes For 4100 Senior Citizens

Strategically located in predetermined zones serving the entire province, fifty new homes for senior citizens will be constructed by the Alberta Government in 1959. Each will have accommodation for fifty persons.

In addition two special units have been proposed for each of Calgary and Edmonton, to provide housing for 800 persons in each city.

Discussions with the communities concerned will be initiated shortly.

The Alberta Government will bear total cost of construction and furnishing the homes. They will be constructed on acceptable land provided by the municipalities in the areas where the homes are located. When completed they will be turned over to the municipalities in the areas they serve.

Estimated cost of this modern accommodation for 4100 senior citizens of Alberta is approximately $16,000,000.

Urges dominion-wide recognition of 'pink slips'

Auto clubs linked with the Canadian Automobile Association—have been asked by the national body to urge provincial governments to accept liability insurance cards (pink slips) from other provinces on a reciprocal basis.

"It has been brought to our attention many times especially in the tourist season, that inconvenience and embarrassment are caused fellow Canadians by non-recognition of proof of liability in another province," said S. C. R. Wicks, acting secretary manager of the B. C. Automobile Assn.

"Every effort should be made to get recognition of cards coast to coast across Canada," Mr. Wicks said. "We have already been in touch with the provincial governments who we believe are working actively toward this end."

Dear Sir:

Letter To The Editor

Toronto, Ont., Sept. 17, 1958.

The Editor, The Journal, Coleman, Alberta.

Once again The Salvation Army National Red Shield Appeal can record victory, as reports reaching this headquarters indicate the objective will be exceeded when all returns are in.

We are indebted to your newspaper for the generous support accorded the local appeal, for the encouragement given the committee and canvassers, and for the practical interest in our work, which is constantly displayed.

On behalf of The Salvation Army may I extend our grateful thanks.

Yours sincerely,

L. BURSEY, Brigadier, National Campaign Director.
